Online Resources/Information Clearinghouses

There are a number of national level policy and research organizations and government agencies that share a focus on child welfare issues and the role of the court system in the processing of child abuse and neglect cases. The websites of these organizations and agencies are excellent sources of information on numerous topics and provide the latest in commentary, research, best practice guidelines, innovative programs and other initiatives in various jurisdictions. Many also highlight training and technical assistance opportunities. Overviews and links to some of the more prominent and comprehensive sites are provided below.

A. ACEs Too High

www.cestoohigh.com/

This is a news website that highlights the latest headlines, research and developments as they pertain to Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). Resources on research, practice, national initiatives and the ACE Study can be found here. There are links to other trauma-informed sites, the principal investigator of the ACEs study, Dr. Vince Felitti's presentations and ACE score information and questionnaire.

B. American Bar Association's Center on Children and the Law

www.americanbar.org/groups/child\_law.html

The Center on Children and the Law is a program of the Young Lawyers Division and aims to improve the lives of children through advances in law, justice, knowledge, practice and policy. Specific projects include:

- ABA Permanency Project
- Capacity Building Center for Courts
- Family Justice Initiative
- Quality Legal Representation
- Commission on Youth at Risk

The Center has established a Legal Center for Foster Care and Education which is a collaboration between Casey Family Programs and the Center in conjunction with the Education Law Center-PA and the Juvenile Law Center. The site includes publications, such as the Blueprint for Change: Education Success for Children in Foster Care, and a series of guidelines on special education issues and the role of the court.

<http://www.fostercareandeducation.org/>

The Center is also part of the National Alliance for Parent Representation. This project provides training and technical assistance to jurisdictions seeking to pursue justice for parents and families through effective legal, legislative and policy advocacy. Information is provided on quality of legal representation for parents and resources to support practice and parents.

C. Capacity Building Center for Courts

<https://capacity.childwelfare.gov/courts/>

The center is funded by the Children's Bureau and is supported through the collaborative efforts of the American Bar Association, National Center for State Courts and the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges. Its mission is to create integrated capacity-building plans that engage Court Improvement Programs (CIPs) in system improvement work, provide direct support to CIPs and create learning opportunities and resources to elevate legal and judicial practice nationwide. The site contains information in several areas of focus including: preventing sex trafficking, continuous quality improvement and Indian Child Welfare Act

D. Casey Family Programs

Casey Family Programs is the nation's largest operating foundation entirely focused on foster care. The goal of the foundation is to safely reduce the number of children in foster care and improve the lives of those who remain in care through research and policy recommendations. The website www.casey.org/resources/ includes a library of materials on foster care and child welfare issues and is an excellent resource for research and commentary on educational issues, kinship care, racial disproportionality, congregate care and youth aging out of the foster care system, among other topics.

E. Center for Youth Wellness

www.centerforyouthwellness.org/

The Center for Youth Wellness was founded by Nadine Burke Harris, MD. A national expert and trauma and Adverse Childhood Experiences, Dr. Harris has spoken of the importance of recognizing and treating trauma in children. The Center's mission is to improve the health of children and adolescents exposed to adverse childhood experiences. The website has a section on ACEs & Toxic Stress that discusses the science behind ACEs and the effects of ACEs on the health of individuals.

Popular resources are:

- TedTalk: How Childhood Trauma Effects Health Across a Lifetime

G. Courts Catalyzing Change: Achieving Equity and Fairness in Foster Care Initiative

www.ncjfcj.org/our-work/courts-catalyzing-change

The Courts Catalyzing Change Initiative is directed by the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges with funding from Casey Family Programs and support from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) of the U.S. Department of Justice. The purpose is to bring together judicial officers and other system experts to set a national agenda for court-based training, research, and reform initiatives to reduce the disproportionate representation and disparate treatment of children of color in the dependency court system.

H. Education Law Center

www.elc-pa.org

Since 1975, the Education Law Center of Pennsylvania (ELC) has worked to make good public education a reality for Pennsylvania's most vulnerable children – poor children, children of color, children with disabilities, English language learners, children in foster homes and institutions, and others. The Education Law Center's website offers detailed, helpful information regarding education.

I. Harvard Center on the Developing Child

www.developingchild.harvard.edu/

The mission of the Center on the Developing Child is to drive science-based innovation that achieves breakthrough outcomes for children facing adversity. Its belief is that advances in science provide a powerful source of new ideas focused on the early years of life. Founded in 2006, the Center catalyzes local, national, and international innovation in policy and practice focused on children and families. The Center designs, tests and implements ideas in collaboration with a broad network of research, practice, policy, and community leaders for maximum impact on lifelong learning, behavior, and both physical and mental health of young children. The website features research, implications and policy application about many areas of child development. Most notable is the work they have done on Toxic Stress and Resilience. Some resources available at this website are:

- The Science of Neglect
- Toxic Stress 101
- ACEs and Toxic Stress: Frequently Asked Questions

J. Juvenile Law Center

www.jlc.org

The Juvenile Law Center is a public interest law firm for children in the United States which was founded in 1975 and based in Philadelphia. The Juvenile Law Center advocates for rights, dignity, equity and opportunity for youth in the child welfare and justice systems. The Center authored the Pennsylvania Judicial Deskbook: A Guide to Statutes, Judicial Decisions and Recommended Practices for Cases Involving Dependent Children in Pennsylvania and published the fourth edition in 2004. Other publications of interest are available at www.jlc.org/resources/publications and include:

The Center no longer publishes the quarterly e-newsletter, Continuing Upward from the Summit, which highlighted innovations, accomplishments and national events related to family courts and child welfare though past editions are archived and accessible from the website.

Q. National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges

www.ncjfcj.org

The website contains links to many of the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges' resources including the widely referenced work on court practices in child abuse and neglect cases:

Enhanced Resource Guidelines: Improving Court Practice in Child Abuse and Neglect Cases (2016)

NCJFCJ publishes The Juvenile and Family Court Journal, a quarterly compilation of articles on topics related to the field of juvenile justice and family law. NCJFCJ has also conducted research and published reports and technical assistance briefs on other specific child welfare issues and programs.

R. National Center for Permanent Family Connectedness

<http://familyfinding.org/>

The mission of the National Institute for Permanent Family Connectedness is to advance permanency for all children and youth, with Family Finding as a core strategy and a method that adds value to service systems. Every child has a family, and family members can be found when we try. Loneliness can be devastating, even dangerous, and is experienced by most children in out of home care. The single factor most closely associated with positive outcomes for children is meaningful, lifelong connections to family. The website includes articles and video/audio podcasts about family finding topics.

S. Office of Children and Families in the Court

www.ocfcpcourts.us/

The Office of Children and Families in the Court (OCFC) was created by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to make more positive outcomes for children involved in child abuse, neglect, and dependency cases. The OCFC's work is guided by four principles: protect children, promote strong families, promote child well-being, and provide timely permanency. The website contains a link to a resource center for judges and other legal professionals which includes information regarding the Children's Roundtable Initiative, Family Engagement Initiative, three-month court reviews, and expedited children's fast track appeals. Additionally, the website provides specific information for children/youth, parents, family and community members, and human service professionals. The website also contains valuable information on all of the State Roundtable Workgroups and links to the reports and resources developed by the workgroups.

T. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration

<https://www.samhsa.gov/>

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) is the agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services that leads public health efforts to advance the behavioral health of the nation. SAMHSA's mission is to reduce the impact of substance abuse and mental illness on America's communities. The website includes resources on recovery and treatment; issues, conditions and disorders; substances; and professional and research topics.

U. The Unified Judicial System of Pennsylvania

www.pacourts.us

The website for the Unified Judicial System of Pennsylvania is a rich resource that hosts the sites for both the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania

Courts (Judicial Administration) and the Office of Children and Families in the Courts (Judicial Administration/Programs). Supreme Court opinions and Superior Court opinions, juvenile rules committee, dependency court forms and data dashboard information can also be found.
